Animals are actually able to share their emotions. If you are willing to take the time to look, and to pay attention, you might be surprised to see that they have emotions like humans. Animals have a natural ability to express various feelings and choices through body language and by making different calls and sounds.

In order to gain a better understanding of your pet, it is essential that you carefully observe their everyday behavior. Take, for instance, poor eating habits. If your animal is refusing to eat, try to see if there is also a change in its other behaviors, such as the way it walks, or the way it moves its ears or tail, etc. Try to see if you made any big changes in the pet's life that might have affected it, like a big move, or perhaps a new member living in the house.

There are many things that could have caused the problem, and it is up to you to go through the many possibilities to find out which is causing trouble for your pet. Just remember to always pay attention to your pet.

46. According to the passage, which one of the following would NOT be a "big change" that might affect your pet's behavior?

(A) A guest staying at your house for more than a year.

(B) A big move.

(C) Buying a new toy.

(D) A new family member.

47. What is the article trying to tell you?

(A) Listen to the words your pet has to say.

(B) Watch and pay careful attention to your pet.

(C) Do not own a new pet.

(D) Animals cannot show any emotion at all.

A Boy and His Donkey

Once upon a time there was a boy whose job was to watch over his father's farm. Every morning, he would yell at the chickens and the donkey, "Eat up! Do whatever you need to do and I will come and feed you again around noon." Sometimes he even forgot to feed the poor chickens and the donkey because he was busy sitting around doing nothing.

One day, a civil war broke out. The boy still did his work just like any other ordinary day. In order not to be recruited, he came up with a plan to eat as much as possible. But there was not enough food for both the boy and his donkey. So the heavier the boy got, the thinner the donkey became.

One day, the boy saw some armed men approaching. He quickly jumped on the donkey and told him to run away as fast as possible. But the donkey refused to move and say: "Do you think they will make me carry heavier loads than I have to now?" The boy replied, "No."

"Then I don't mind if they do take me, for I couldn't be any worse."

48. What did the boy do in order to avoid recruitment?

- (A) He abandoned the donkey.
- (B) He ate as much as possible.
- (C) He stopped feeding the donkey and poultry.
- (D) He ran away with the donkey.

49. In the 3rd paragraph, the word ordinary means _____.

- (A) wartime
- (B) different
- (C) plain
- (D) regular

50. Why wouldn't the donkey escape with the boy?

- (A) The donkey was too fat.
- (B) The boy was overweight.
- (C) The donkey felt his situation can not be worse.
- (D) There was no food for both of them.
