四、閱讀測驗(每題一分，共二十分)

1. Jia-en Lian (連加恩), an ordinary medical student who graduated from National Yang-Ming University, has become a household name in Taiwan because of his extraordinary deeds. He studied at the medical school of National Yang-Ming University and graduated in 2001, the first year that diplomacy alternative service was put into effect. After consideration, Jia-en Lian volunteered to head to Burkina Faso in Africa, joining a medical aid team there. He could have chosen the easy way out, but he figured that at such a young age, he should aim higher. However, he didn't realize how underdeveloped Burkina Faso was until he arrived there. There were barely any medical facilities. Besides, the sanitation there was terrible. The locals didn't have access to clean water, either. The life expectancy for the locals was nearly thirty years lower than the world life expectancy. To help improve their environment, Lian started several programs. First, he asked the locals to collect three bags of garbage in exchange for a piece of clothing. He also helped them dig wells so that they would have water. In addition, he formed a plan to build an orphanage where children could learn. It wasn't easy, though. But in the end he was able to overcome those difficulties because of his strong faith. Lian's story has greatly inspired us and taught us that no matter how ordinary we are, we can still make a difference.

51 What does "a household name" mean?

- (A) A name that is well-known. (B) A name that is used in every family.
(C) A name that is seldom used. (D) A famous name brand.

52 According to the passage, which of the following is NOT what Lian did in Burkina Faso?

- (A) Helped dig wells. (B) Raised a family there. (C) Built an orphanage. (D) Gave the locals clothes.

53 When Lian arrived in Burkina Faso, what did he discover?

- (A) The people there were very friendly. (B) They didn't have a clean environment.
(C) People lived a long life there. (D) There were some hospitals there.

54 Why did Lian choose to serve in Burkina Faso?

- (A) To have an easier life. (B) To learn English. (C) To become famous. (D) To help the locals there.

55 Which of the following statements about Jia-en Lian is true?

- (A) One year after he graduated from medical college, the diplomacy alternative service took effect.
(B) He stayed in Burkina Faso for one year.
(C) He showed the true spirit of selflessness.
(D) He thought of giving up several times.

2. Building your vocabulary is like building a strong base brick by brick. However, developing a good vocabulary involves more than just memorizing words.

First, you should put those words that you only recognize to active use. The best way to build vocabulary is to be an active reader. One very helpful tip is to learn ten new words every day, write them down in a diary, and use them in conversation. The more the new words are used in context, the more easily they will be brought back to mind.

The best advice when it comes to vocabulary building is to learn words in small groups that you can easily master. Remember that vocabulary growth is a series of steps that can grow slowly to a large number of words with time, attention, and practice. Knowing the basics of the Latin and Greek word roots in English is also useful and helps students understand where some English words come from and how they are formed. While there are no magic shortcuts to learning words, the larger your vocabulary becomes, the easier it will be to connect a new word with words you already know, and thus to remember its meaning.

Last but not least, to enlarge your vocabulary, you should develop a strong feeling which tells you it is worth doing, that a larger vocabulary will help you in school and on the job, and that it can lead to a more exciting and fulfilling life.

56 Which of the following is the best choice for the title of this passage?

- (A) English: The Most Widely Used Language in the World
- (B) How to Read English Novels
- (C) Good Ways to Learn More New Words
- (D) It Costs a Lot to Improve Your Vocabulary

57 Which saying best summarizes the message in this passage?

- (A) Good words are worth much, and cost little.
- (B) There is no such word as “impossible” in my dictionary.
- (C) A good beginning is half done.
- (D) Little and often fills the purse.

58 What does the last sentence of the third paragraph mean?

- (A) The more words you know, the more easily you can increase your word power.
- (B) The better your memory is, the more words you can remember.
- (C) The more words you remember, the more meanings they will have.
- (D) The more meanings a word has, the easier it is to remember it.

- (C) why it is necessary for a beginner to build word power
- (D) an English learner can build his or her vocabulary through continuous practice

3. Self-control is never easy, but fortunately it can be learned. To improve your discipline, first ask yourself what your goal is. Be as specific as possible. Instead of saying, “I want to concentrate on studying,” say something like “I’m going to study for one hour without checking Facebook.” It is also important to stay away from temptations. People trying to lose weight shouldn’t leave junk food lying around. If you don’t see it, then you’ll be less likely to think about it. Actually, a regular diet can help with self-control. Hungry people have a harder time focusing and making the right decisions. Turning a new behavior into a habit can be uncomfortable at first since our brains will try to resist. Keep track of your progress. Seeing your successes is a great reward and it helps build confidence.

61. Where might we most likely find the above passage?

- (A) In a travel magazine.
- (B) In a healthy living guide.
- (C) In a science journal.
- (D) In a historical novel.

62. What is the first step in increasing your self-control?

- (A) Step away from Facebook and electronics.
- (B) Find people in similar situations.
- (C) Think about what you’re trying to achieve.
- (D) Study about it in books.

63. What is important for building up discipline?

- (A) Challenging yourself with difficult decisions.
- (B) Not looking at things that could tempt you.
- (C) Learning from others who have experience.
- (D) Starting your work from doing difficult tasks.

64. According to the passage, what can help with self-control?

- (A) Exercising regularly.
- (B) Getting enough sleep.
- (C) Eating on a normal schedule.
- (D) Helping other people.

65. What is said about creating a new habit?

- (A) It is much easier in the beginning.
- (B) Our body will fight against it.
- (C) You have to trick your brain to do it.
- (D) It usually takes a long time.

4. Some temples are so beautiful that they’re thought of as works of art. Such is the case in Chiang Mai. This peaceful city in northern Thailand has over 300 temples, which reveal much about the culture there. In Old City, several temples are within walking distance of one another. Wat Phra Singh, nearly 700 years old, is an example of Chiang Mai’s ancient history. The grounds contain some buildings decorated with wood carvings and delicate paintings. Next is Chiang Mai’s masterpiece—Wat Chedi Luang. Built by a king in the 14th century to store the ashes of his father, this 60-meter-tall structure is guarded by stone elephants. Doi Suthep sits on a mountain that rises 1,000 meters above the city. Three hundred steps lead up to the holy, golden temple surrounded by rock gardens.

66. What is said about the temples of Chiang Mai?

- (A) They are all over 300 years old.
- (B) They can teach a person a lot about the city.
- (C) They were built during a less peaceful time.
- (D) They are the most visited in all of Thailand.

67. What do we know about the temples of Old City?

(A) They are close to each other.

(B) They were created by foreigners.

(C) They were built during the same time.

(D) They are more popular than those in other areas.

68. Which word does not match the city Chiang Mai?

(A) Historical.

(B) Religious.

(C) Crowded.

(D) Cultural.

69. Why was Wat Chedi Luang built?

(A) To honor a person.

(B) To pray to a god.

(C) To celebrate a religion.

(D) To remember a culture.

70. What can we say about Doi Suthep?

(A) It appears very old and needs to be repaired.

(B) Its location is much higher than much of the city.

(C) It is protected by hundreds of stone elephants.

(D) The building is made completely of wood.
