Imagine being able to build around corners, on curved surfaces, or even onto the sides that are vertical. Do you forget to engineer a point of attachment for your little Lego building? All your effort will be wasted without this simple attachment point! Is there any way to fix it other than taking them apart? No problem. Cut a length of Nimuno Loops, stick it on wherever you need it to be, and you can continue building your masterpiece.

Nimuno Loops, also known as Mayka Toy Block Tape, is compatible with most toy brick systems like Lego and Mega Bloks & Kreo. People like toy bricks so much that they want to bring them to their everyday life. Nimuno Loops offers this kind of possibility to people with its flexibility, cuttability and its re-useable sticking backs. One side of it contains a sticky material, and the other side has Lego-like bumps. With Nimuno Loops, you're allowed to build your creations on almost anywhere you want. The only limit to what you can do with Nimuno Loops is your own imagination.

Ariana Grande, an American singer and actress, started performing at a very young age. Her managers at that time thought acting would be a safer bet for such a young star. Even though her passion was on singing, they still push her into starting the career in acting. While acting as the supporting role in the famous teen musical, Victorious, Ariana concentrated on improving her vocal range and put videos of her singing some hard and well-known songs on the Internet. People compare her vocal range to that of Mariah Carey. One CEO spotted Ariana's talent through her video and signed her to a record deal immediately. Since then, Ariana's music videos have been viewed more than eight billion times online. She has won three American Music Awards, three MTV Europe Music Awards, an MTV Video Music Award and four Grammy Award nominations.

She has supported a wide range of charities and has a large following on social media. In 2016, Time named Ariana one of the 100 most influential people in the world on their annual list. Grande has adopted several rescue dogs as pets and promoted pet adoption at some of her concerts. In 2016, she launched a line of lip shades called "Ariana Grande's MAC Viva Glam", of which the profits benefit people affected by HIV and AIDS.

49. What can we say about Ariana Grande?

- (A) Ariana's singing ability wasn't outstanding in the beginning.
- (B) Ariana invited stars like Mariah Carey to improve her vocal range.
- (C) Ariana used her popularity to influence others to help those in need.
- (D) Ariana gave up singing and started to invest in a cosmetics company.

Dear Teacher Chang,

I'm a high school freshman. I think high school is so much different from junior high school, especially when you're in the best boys' high school in the country. By "best" I mean the one with the highest percentage of students getting into top universities. I used to be my teachers' pride and joy in my school because I can beat most other students in all kinds of exams. All the teachers had high hopes for me, believing I could bring glory to myself and to the school by entering the best high school. I didn't let them down. But now here I am, feeling frustrated and confused. I have lost all the glory and attention. I'm just an average student with no special talent. All the subjects are much harder than before, and most of my classmates do better than me on exams. I am not lazy. I study like I studied before, but I find many things in the textbooks hard to understand. I find math especially difficult. My classmates are not helpful. They are not willing to answer my questions. Some of them don't even talk to me because I'm one of the "bottom" students. I don't belong here. God! How I wish I could turn back the clock and be in junior high school again!

Disappointedly,

Henry

Dear Henry,

Thank you for sharing your feeling with me! I'm glad to help and hear. It makes me sad to hear that you're not happy in your current school. Here are some tips for you. First, have you ever talked to your teachers or your parents? I'm pretty sure that they can give you some advice and point out your weakness to help you improve your academic performances. It's not shameful to look for help. A man who is not afraid of asking for help is a true brave man. Second, when your classmates have problems on subjects that you have better performance on it, you can try to help them to show your kindness. Third, try to look on the bright side. Things are bad because you only focus on the negative part of them.

It's time for you to learn how to deal with pressure from school or from interpersonal relationship. Your life won't always be the way you want it. However, I believe things will be better if you could change the way you think and have faith in yourself. So, don't be disappointed at yourself so early. There are definitely some differences between junior high school and high school, but that doesn't mean high school is a bad place. On the contrary, it's a place for you to explore more, to experience more, and most important of all, to grow more.

Sincerely,

Teacher Chang

52. According to Henry, what does "the best high school" mean here?

- (A) The school with the best advice on how to improve their performances.
- (B) The school with the highest percentage of students getting into good colleges.
- (C) The school with the most talented students in all kinds of examinations.
- (D) The school with the friendliest environment for students and teachers.

53. What seems to be Henry's major problem in high school?

- (A) His high school classmates find Henry hard to get along with.
- (B) He finds subjects are more challenging except for math.
- (C) His junior high school teachers don't love him anymore.
- (D) He is extremely struggling to catch up with other students.

54. Which of the following statements is TRUE?

- (A) Henry wants to go back and be a junior high school freshman again.
- (B) Teachers in Henry's junior high school are disappointed at him.
- (C) It's shameful for a brave man to seek help from others.
- (D) Henry does badly on school exams because he is very lazy.

55. Which one is NOT the tip that Teacher Chang gives Henry?

- (A) Being willing to share his knowledge helps him make friends.
- (B) Turning to people around him for help can be a good start.
- (C) Having more confidence in himself will make things better.
- (D) Dealing with interpersonal pressures in high school is not necessary.
