(A) People who visit Bolivia often go to see the Salar de Uyuni. It's a salt flat, or a kind of desert that is covered in salt. During the rainy season, floods make the surface of the salt flat look like a mirror that makes it hard to tell where the sky ends and the earth begins. Standing there, you will look like you are floating in space. Another stunning place is Laguna Colorada. This salt lake is one meter deep, and its dark red color creates an otherworldly contrast against the deep blue sky. Although some claim the water is the blood of the gods, the blood-red color is actually caused by red sediments and algae. This natural landscape provides the perfect background to take in the area's population of rare flamingos.

51. Which is the best description of a salt flat?

- (A) It's a mountain of salt.
- (B) It's like a desert covered in salt.
- (C) It's a cave with walls made of salt.
- (D) It's a body of water that has a lot of salt.

52. Which of the following is NOT true about the Laguna Colorada?

- (A) It looks like the deep blue sky.
- (B) It is quite shallow.
- (C) It contains salt.
- (D) It is red in color.

53. Why do some people say the water of Laguna Colorada is the blood of the gods?

- (A) The water is said to have healing powers.
- (B) The water is hot during rainy season.
- (C) Many people have drowned there.
- (D) The water is the same color as blood.

54. What is the main focus of the passage?

- (A) Ancient buildings in Bolivia.
- (B) Attractions in Bolivia.
- (C) Rare animals in Bolivia.
- (D) Lakes around Bolivia.

(B) New research shows that tea bags are hiding a deadly secret: most of them contain plastic, which is used to help seal the bags. Tea bags release billions of microplastics into our teacups and, eventually, the ocean. Microplastics are tiny pieces of plastic that can poison and kill sea life when eaten. Think about how much tea the world drinks, and you can imagine the destruction that drinking tea is causing to the world's waters. What can we do? Drink loose leaf tea or stick to plastic-free tea bags. Unless we take strong action to reduce the environmental cost of our tea, it's Mother Nature who will have to pay the price.

55. What is the purpose of plastic in tea bags?

- (A) To increase the flavor.
- (B) To help seal the bags.
- (C) To prevent tea leaves from going bad.
- (D) To help the leaves absorb boiling water.

56. What dangers can microplastics pose?

- (A) They can kill humans.
- (B) They can make farmers go out of business.
- (C) They can damage tea leaves.
- (D) They can poison animals.

57. How can we avoid the dangers posed by microplastics, according to the passage?

- (A) Stop drinking tea.
- (B) Drink more coffee.
- (C) Use loose tea leaves.
- (D) Use fewer plastic bags.

(C) Online shopping is convenient, but it comes at a price to the environment. Each year boxes, plastic filler, and other packaging waste accounts for 42 percent of the 298 million tons of global plastic waste. One company, 3M, is seeking solutions to this problem. Its new Flex and Seal shipping roll is a single sheet that wraps around and protects most smaller products. No box or tape is required. The recyclable sheet has a middle layer of bubble wrap and a tear-proof, waterproof outside layer that protects the package's contents. Currently, most people think safe shipping requires a lot of packaging material. However, for our planet's sake, this is one belief we must change.

58. What is the purpose of this passage?

- (A) To compare two packaging materials.
- (B) To talk about online shopping.

(C) To introduce a new product.

(D) To promote a company.

59. How much of global plastic waste is made up of packaging waste?

(A) Less than a third.

(B) Close to half.

(C) About three quarters.

(D) More than half.

60. Which correctly describes Flex and Seal?

(A) It contains more than one layer.

(B) It needs to be used with tape.

(C) It can be easily torn off.

(D) It cannot be recycled.
